3.1 (a)

HOUSING FACILITIES, GENERAL.

Sec. 3.1(a) Housing facilities, general. Structure; construction. Housing facilities for dogs and cats must be designed and constructed so that they are structurally sound. They must be kept in good repair, and they must protect the animals from injury, contain the animals securely, and restrict other animals from entering.

* There are two pens under the lean to kennel that have livestock panels that have been placed on the under the ground surface to prevent the 6 dogs in these pens from digging under the divider fence. However, these panels are now exposed to the dogs due to the gravel ground surface has worn away. These anti digging panels either need to be removed or need to be covered with more gravel to protect the dogs in these pens from potential injury.

To be corrected by: 08-31-2010.

This inspection and exit interview was conducted with the facility owner.

They must be kept in good repair, and they must protect the animals from injury, contain the animals securely, and restrict other animals from entering.

* There are at least 13 pens on the north side of the main kennel building that have areas around the dog pass through door frames where the tin is peeling up around the bottom left hand side of the door frames. This is exposing rough and bent tin edges to the dogs. This tin must be replaced or repaired in a manner that protects the animals from injury. This involves 25 dogs.
